

Must Resist...

Greetings Michael,

Must resist the temptation to crash shopping cart into the shrieking 8-foot Grim Reaper.... Yes, much to our shock and dismay the first Halloween displays appeared over two weeks ago. But this is the clearly the time to enjoy summer festivities as much as possible while we still can. We have some interesting articles to share with you this month, including one on the GDP surprise, and how to pass on family heirlooms without drama (we've seen plenty of examples of avoidable drama. Sticky notes are just asking for trouble!). And for us non-Brits, an aubergine is an eggplant. Now that you know that, can you handle the truth?

Wishing you a wonderful and sunny August,

Perry Adams, Ryan Sterkenburg & Mike Newman

Offices: Traverse City, Muskegon, Ludington

West Shore Bank Wealth Management

\(231\) 252-8940252-8940)

wealthmgmt@westshorebank.com

Contact Us

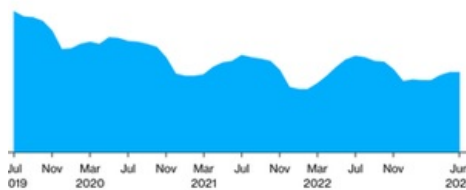

GDP Surprises On The Upside, But . . .

Aug. 2, 2023

F While the positive GDP surprise will squelch talk of recession for the time being, the U.S....

Read more →

IS Existing-Home Inventory Slides
the supply of listings is about half of what it was four years ago
Previously Owned US Homes Listed for Sale

Source: National Association of Realtors/Bloomberg

Lots of US Homeowners Want to Move. They Just Have Nowhere to Go

Aug. 1, 2023

B Locked into cheaper borrowing costs and unable to find a new place that fits their budgets,...

Pass On Your Heirlooms, Not Family Drama

July 31, 2023

WSJ How to creatively approach estate planning and divvying up inherited items.

Read more →

The truth about nightshades: four online myths about potatoes, tomatoes and aubergines

July 31, 2023

G Is this popular family of plants really toxic? Many TikTok influencers seem to think so.

Read more →

Here,...

Read more →

Wealth Management

If you no longer wish to receive this newsletter, unsubscribe here.